a military history of the campaigns of stilicho the army general who became one of the most powerful men in the western roman empire flavius stilicho lived in one of the most turbulent periods in european history the western empire was finally giving way under pressure from external threats especially from germanic tribes crossing the rhine and danube as well as from seemingly ever present internal revolts and rebellions ian hughes explains how a vandal actually stilicho had a vandal father and roman mother came to be given almost total control of the western empire and describes his attempts to save both the western empire and rome itself from the attacks of alaric the goth and other barbarian invaders stilicho is one of the major figures in the history of the late roman empire and his actions following the death of the emperor theodosius the great in 395 may have helped to divide the western and eastern halves of the roman empire on a permanent basis yet he is also the individual who helped maintain the integrity of the west before the rebellion of constantine iii in britain and the crossing of the rhine by a major force of vandals sueves and alans both in a d 406 set the scene for both his downfall and execution in 408 and the later disintegration of the west despite his role in this fascinating and crucial period of history there is no other full length biography of him in print an up close look at the germanic people who sacked rome in the fifth century ad on 31 december ad 406 a group of german tribes crossed the rhine pierced the roman defensive lines and began a rampage across roman gaul sacking cities such as metz arras and strasbourg foremost amongst them were the vandals and their search for a new homeland took them on the most remarkable odyssey the romans were unable to stop them and their closest allies the alans marching the breadth of gaul crossing the pyrenees and making themselves masters of spain however this kingdom of the vandals and alans soon came under intense pressure from rome s visigothic allies in 429 under their new king gaiseric they crossed the straits of gibraltar to north africa they quickly overran this rich roman province and established a stable kingdom taking to the seas they soon dominated the western mediterranean and raided italy famously sacking rome itself in 455 eventually however they were utterly conquered by belisarius in 533 and vanished from history simon macdowall narrates and analyzes these events with particular focus on the evolution of vandal armies and warfare a new study that challenges previous interpretations of post roman north africa north africa was one of the richest parts of the roman empire the agricultural powerhouse of the mediterranean it was also home to some of the emperor s biggest imperial estates and prosperous cities of all kinds its loss to the vandals in the first half of the 5th century ad was the mortal blow which both precipitated the fall of the western empire and set the eastern empire back for decades its reconquest then became an obsession with each new emperor in constantinople time and again the eastern romans failed in this goal until justinian i finally succeeded in the ad 530s although north africa s restoration to the world of rome only lasted a short time it has widely been regarded as a positive development however new research published here for the first time shows that post roman north africa thrived under the vandals to them it was vandal heaven a place where they found a way as the new incumbent elite to live comfortably alongside the late roman inhabitants despite their different interpretations of christianity together the two cultures flourished when the eastern romans now styled byzantines returned they weren t welcome this is evidenced in the surviving built environments of this new period of north african history namely chains of small forts along the frontier and interior where the byzantines used mounted troops to keep an unhappy local population under control dr elliott not only presents a brand new interpretation of post roman north africa but makes the case that the arab conquest was so successful in this region because the byzantine overlords were so unpopular furthermore his argument explains how the region today came to be part of the arab world in contrast to the regions along the northern mediterranean freeboard which maintain their roman ness to this day after becoming king of talosheim vandal successfully defeated the invasion of his city by an imperial expedition army the force was led by goldan and raily two of those who killed vandal s mother dalshia in the end vandal used his soul crusher to destroy their souls in the summer of 477 a d a band of ambassadors who claimed to speak the will of the decayed body which still called itself the roman senate appeared before the judgment seat of the emperor zeno the ruler of constantinople and the eastern empire they came to announce to him that the army of the west had slain the patrician orestes and deposed from his throne the son of orestes the boy emperor romulus but they did not then proceed to inform zeno that another caesar had been duly elected to replace their late sovereign embassies with such news had been common of late years but this particular deputation unlike any other which had yet visited the bosphorus came to announce to the eastern emperor that his own mighty name sufficed for the protection of both east and west they laid at his feet the diadem and purple robe of romulus and professed to transfer their homage and loyalty to his august person then as if by way of supplement and addendum they informed zeno that they had chosen flavius odoacer for their governor and trusted that their august master would deign to ratify the choice and confer on odoacer the title of patrician
